

MEAA'S Freelance Charge-out Rates (current as at July 2017)

The purpose of this document is to provide a rough estimate of what you would need to charge to earn the same as a J5 graded journalist on a Fairfax Media or News Corporation metropolitan daily newspaper* – with some allowance given to the running costs of your small business.

It does not seek to represent actual market conditions – some commissioning editors may be able to offer more than this, many others will offer less.

For current market rates, check out Rate Tracker on MEAA's web site (www.meaa.org/connect/rates). Rate Tracker has real data updated by freelancers based on their own experience of who pays what.

Consider adding your own knowledge to Rate Tracker to build a useful tool for freelance colleagues to learn more about what the market rates actually are so we can all work collectively for fair and sustainable incomes for freelancers.
